

Frightened Rabbit – “Sing The Greys”
Release Date – 22nd May 2006

“Sing the Greys” is the debut album from Frightened Rabbit, out now. Although recorded three times before on brothers’ Scott and Grant’s home studio set up, it is Marcus Mackay’s Diving Bell Lounge in Glasgow that has become the raw, homely sound of this rude, beautiful and honest album.

With Frightened Rabbit and Marcus’ DIY ethos Hits the Fan has become the platform for this release, who uphold the same belief. Xiu Xiu and Bright Eyes would have something to reckon with, David Shrigley would mock whilst Kings of Leon would probably share women with them. Frightened Rabbit sit on a chair away from the rest of the party and “Sing the Greys”.

June 14th – Barfly, Glasgow
July 5th – The Water Rats, London

FRIGHTENED RABBIT

photos by christopher heaney www.christopherheaney.com

FRIGHTENED RABBIT ARE A DRUM PLAYER CALLED GRANT AND TWO GUITAR PLAYERS CALLED BILLY AND SCOTT. ~~THEY~~ WE HAVE BEEN PLAYING, RECORDING AND ~~PERFORMING~~ DANCING TOGETHER FOR ~~THE~~ OVER ONE YEAR, ALL OVER THE CITY OF GLASGOW.

SUBJECTS AROUND ~~SUBJECTS~~ EVERYONE WE WRITE ABOUT THE SAME THINGS THAT ~~ANYONE~~ DOES:- HEARTACHE, BLOOD DONATION AND FUCKING.

ALL THAT WE HOPE IS THAT OUR SONGS CREEP INTO YOUR HEAD AND EMERGE FROM YOUR LIPS NEXT TIME YOU DECIDE TO WHISTLE.

ANYONE CAN BE IN FRIGHTENED RABBIT. YOU JUST HAVE TO BRING SOMETHING TO BLOW INTO. WE LOOK FORWARD TO ~~THE~~ MEETING YOU IN THE FLESH.
